INVITATION

The Romanian Society of Ethnopharmacology (RSE)
has the pleasure of inviting you to the 4th Ethnopharmacological Symposium
with International Participation whose topic is of worldwide importance researches in bio foods and phytomedicines

We hope that the scientific papers presented at this symposium shall make an important contribution to research regarding the natural products in support of improving people's health and the quality of life.

Some suggested areas of interest are:

- Ecological resources of medicinal and aromatic plants from spontaneous flora (including endemic plants), culture or resulted from biotechnologies;*
- Preservation of medicinal (including endemic plants from spontaneous flora – by ecological means that show consideration to environmental protection, protected areas and biodiversity;*
- Nutritive supplements based on medicinal and aromatic plants – quality and efficiency;*
- Phytotherapy, aromatherapy and phytocosmetics from tradition to science;*
- Technological and laboratory studies aiming to promote biologically active substances;*
- Ethnogastronomy, an alternative to current foods and diets;*
- Monographs for the Romanian Traditional Pharmacopoeia*

We hope that this symposium shall benefit in the encouragement of innovative research in this area,

We await with interest your works and

thank you

for your dedication to the objectives of our association.
